NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Attorney-General Hallinan summed up the prosecution's case against Alfred de Marigny for the jury this afternoon, following Chief Defence Counsel Godfrey Higge's address.

In the same statement headquarters said there is no intention of disbanding any units of the Rangers, thus denying published reports that the Rangers were to be broken up as a result of the improved defence position on the west coast.

Armistice Day--25 Years Ago

Victoria went wild on the Big Day, Nov. 11, 1918, with parades and dancing in the streets. Government Street at Fort looked like this as an army band paraded toward View.

Horse-drawn army cart filled with invalided soldiers' committee steals the spotlight in this scene outside the old Brown Jug building at Fort and Government.

Crowds gathered downtown to cheer themselves hoarse as troops marched through the streets. At left, where Brentwood building now stands is the old Dugout, Victory Loan campaign headquarters when peace came.

Downtown streets were never gayer with every car flag decked. Note left-hand rule of the road, still in use when Germany surrendered.

8th Army Holds Town Dominating Important Road

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALGIERS (AP)—German troops lashed out in nine furious counterattacks in the past 24 hours against Anglo-American 5th Army soldiers pressing in the Mignano-Venafro area against the core of the greatly-reinforced Nazi winter line, it was announced today, but all were thrown back with artillery and infantry fire taking a heavy toll.

The Germans in the Venafro area tried vainly to hurl the Allies into the craggy ravines of the upper Volturno River.

Enemy resistance was almost equally stubborn along the entire line, but the British-Canadian 8th Army to the east further consolidated its positions on high ground overlooking the Sangro River, and inland seized important areas, including the towns of Castiglione, Forlì and Corvigli in gains of more than four miles.

The three captured towns are on the lateral highway running from Vasto on the Adriatic to Isernia in the Apennine Mountains and lie between seven and 25 miles northeast of captured Isernia.

A falling back in this mountainous area toward the new German line to the north was acknowledged by Berlin last week-end. The advance of the 8th Army to occupy the territory was slowed up by customary heavy demolitions and sowing of land mines.

The Germans launched a heavy counterattack at Calabritto, northwest of Mount San Croce on part of the 5th Army front held by British forces, but this, too, was repulsed.

These sallies cost the Nazis heavily in casualties and prisoners captured, Allied headquarters announced. Artillery hacking up the infantry in the Venafro area poured shells into enemy ranks by day and night in barrages which echoed through the valleys and ripped up the mountainsides.

Captured enemy documents confirmed prisoners' stories that the Germans had chosen their present front as a "winter line," and that the enemy command had ordered the line to be held at all costs for "at least eight weeks." If successful, this defence would maintain Germany's grip on Rome until the new year.

This new line extends from the Sangro River on the Adriatic, north of captured Vasto, to the Garigliano River on the Tyrrhenian coast.

'Cease Fire'—Just Quarter of a Century Since War-Weary World Heard Order

TWENTY-FIVE years ago to-morrow quiet fell on the war fronts of the world that had rocked and reverberated for four years. Victory for the Allies had brought an end to the slaughter in the greatest war up to that time.

Two magic words, "Armistice Signed," caused joy approaching hysteria to sweep across the Allied nations. Everyone believed Germany had been brought to her knees never to plunge the world into chaos again.

HOW VICTORIA CELEBRATED

In Victoria thousands paraded the streets—soldiers, sailors, shipyard workers, girls from the factories and just plain civilians.

The boys would be coming home—most of them—Victorians were out to celebrate the good news. Fireworks punctuated the rejoicing and buildings were decked with flags. Atop Mount Tolmie a huge crowd burned the effigy of Kaiser Wilhelm but recently fled to Holland. Leading the official parade to Beacon Hill Park were bands of the Fifth Regiment Garrison Artillery and H.M.S. Lancaster with the Boosters' Band. Privately-owned cars were turned over to the wounded and convalescent so they might ride in the procession.

Said the Victoria Daily Times that day: "A favorite method of celebrating seemed to be riding around in anything which could be called an automobile, frequently with a rearward of saucers or empty gas tins trailing on the ground to beat a defiant tattoo."

"Cease Fire" had sounded and for the moment it was forgotten the conflict had taken the lives of 8,338,315 uniformed men on both sides. Altogether 65,038,810 had taken part and of this number 37,508,686 were killed, wounded, taken prisoner or reported missing. For the Allies this meant that of 42,188,810 mobilized, 5,152,115 were dead while 3,386,200 of the 32,850,000 called up by the Central Powers had met death.

LAST CANADIAN CASUALTY

Last known Canadian casualty was Private George L. Price, Port Williams, N.S., who met death at the hands of a German sniper only three minutes before "Cease Fire" order at 11 a.m. Price was near the last outpost line where the Armistice saw Canadian soldiers relieving Mons, Belgium, after that town had been occupied by German troops for four years. In the preceding two and one half months the Canadians had fought their way through some of the grimmest battles of the war in the final advance that began Aug. 26 at Arras.

FINAL ACTIONS

Last notable act of the Canadian Corps was the taking of Mons. As darkness fell Nov. 10 the 7th Canadian Infantry Brigade encircled the town from north, west and south. Dawn found them pursuing German troops as the latter retired eastward.

At Rethondes, Nov. 8, German emissaries had asked for peace and had been refused by Marshal Ferdinand Foch, Allied generalissimo, who read them the Allied terms. Then after sending the conditions to German army headquarters at Spa, Belgium, the emissaries accepted unconditionally the Allied armistice terms.

In historic Forest of Compiègne, sheltering the tiny village of Rethondes, the armistice was finally arranged. Terms were signed aboard a special train in the village station and orders were sent to armies of the Allied and Central Powers to cease fire six hours later. —KAY MCINTYRE.

Snows Blanket Western Ukraine As Russians Move 27 Miles a Day

LONDON (CP)—The Germans acknowledged fresh retreats north and west of Kiev today before superior Russian forces thundering over the first heavy snows of the western Ukraine toward the Polish and Rumanian frontiers.

Gen. Nikolai Vatutin's 1st Ukrainian Army was said in official Moscow advices to have advanced 27 miles in a day from Kiev, capturing 80 towns and villages. The Kiev combat carried within 58 miles of the important rail city of Korosten, further threatening Germans in the Ukraine with encirclement.

Russian tanks and infantry were pounding heavily at German lines northwest of Smolensk "in swaying fights" on the approaches to the Latvian frontier, today's German communiques said. Violent Russian attacks also were reported in the Nvel area of the north.

The Germans described fighting in the Crimea as local. They have acknowledged a Russian drive from the north in the Perekop Isthmus and from the east around Kerch. The Berlin communique claimed a Soviet landing formation had been driven back in the Kerch Strait. There was no confirmation of a Reuters report that Kerch itself had been captured.

Another Berlin broadcast said the Russians had made a fresh landing at an unidentified spot in the Crimea and that heavy fighting was in progress on the Perekop Isthmus.

"In the Kiev fighting area south and southwest of the town, German troops again on Nov. 9 were engaged in fierce fighting against the enemy thrusting forward on a wide front," the Berlin communique said. "Despite tough enemy resistance, German counterattacks reached their assigned goals and captured lost localities."

The Germans said the Red Army was attacking "in severe struggles" southwest of Dnepropetrovsk and north of Krivoriog in the Dnieper bend, making "local dents" which the Nazis claimed were straightened out.

No Times Tomorrow

Remembrance Day will be observed as a holiday by the Times. The next regular edition will be issued Friday.

Anthony Eden Home

LONDON (CP)—Foreign Secretary Eden returned today from the Tripartite Conference in Moscow.

RUSSIANS IN KIEV ROLL ON TOWARD THE WEST—Through a main street in Kiev rumble huge Russian tanks, which push on to crush German resistance in the Ukraine. The fall of the city came one day before the "Russian July 4th"—Nov. 7, the anniversary of the birth of present-day Communist Russia. (Photo radioed from Moscow).

GERMAN UKRAINE LINE SAGS—As the Russian military machine punches forward in its Ukraine winter drive, the Nazi defence line shows considerable signs of sagging. Red spearheads have driven through Fastov after their big victory at Kiev while farther south the Germans reel back to Krivoriog, past Kherson and deep into a Crimea death trap.

Murder of Oakes By De Marigny Impossible, Says Defence Counsel

By E. V. W. JONES

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Defence attorney Godfrey Higgs charged again today that a faked fingerprint was being used in an effort to convict Alfred de Marigny of the murder of Sir Harry Oakes, and appealed to the Bahamas Supreme Court jury not to convict the accused son-in-law because of prejudice.

In an eloquent closing argument, the youthful attorney asked that De Marigny be acquitted.
De Marigny was tense and nervous in the prisoners' box until his chief counsel had made his final plea. Attorney-General Eric Hallinan was to begin his summation of the prosecution evidence later in the day.

Chief Justice Sir Oscar Bedford Daly will make his charge to the jury tomorrow morning, and the jury then will begin its deliberation.

De Marigny's 19-year-old wife Nancy, eldest daughter of the late Sir Harry, sat with folded hands in a spectator's chair. She was the final witness Tuesday in behalf of her husband.

MAY HAVE BEEN SHOCKED

"De Marigny is a foreigner of French descent," Higgs declared.
"But you are not trying him on prejudice. If De Marigny died from prejudice it would be a greater crime than the slaying of Sir Harry Oakes."

"Some of his actions may have shocked the people of this island, or shocked you," the attorney conceded in requesting that any prejudice be forgotten.

Higgs made his strongest attack against the fingerprint in evidence—an impression of De Marigny's right little finger which Capt. James O. Barker of the Miami, Fla., police testified had been lifted from a bedsheet which stood in the death room.

He pointed out that Barker now says he is unable to tell the spot from which the print came.

"I suggest that lift never came from that screen," Higgs said.
He discussed the questioning of De Marigny on the second floor of the Oakes estate by Capt.
E. W. Melchen of the Miami police.

"The defence alleges," Higgs declared, "that the accused was taken upstairs for the purpose of getting his fingerprint on some object."

SAYS POLICE LIE

Higgs said the prosecution testimony "is a combination of statement of an irrelevant nature and deliberate lying by police officers whose duty is to protect the public."

"It would be an unhappy day in Nassau," he commented, "if a man were convicted of murder on the evidence given in this case."

He attacked an account of Sir Harry's death which Nancy said had been given to her and her mother, Lady Oakes, by Melchen and Barker soon after the Oakes funeral.

"I suggest they made the statement to Lady Oakes and Nancy to poison their minds against him so that the accused would not have their support," Higgs said.

AIRS EVIDENCE

"Harold Christie is well known to all of us," declared Higgs, "but his story seemed implausible."
"There is no suggestion on my part that Christie had a part in

UPHOLDS DE MARIGNY'S STORY—Included in the evidence the jury will consider is the story of Betty Roberts, above, Nassau movie usherette, who testified to corroborate Marigny's statement that he was at his own home when Sir Harry Oakes was slain.

the murder of Sir Harry, but it is my desire to ventilate all evidence."

The attorney was speaking of Harold G. Christie, Nassau real estate operator and close friend of Sir Harry's, who testified that as a house guest at Oakes' estate he found the body last July 8 when he went to summon his host for breakfast.

Christie said he had slept all night in a room not far from Sir Harry's, but heard no sound of a struggle or cries. Capt. Edward Sears of the Nassau police disputed Christie's testimony, saying he had seen the man in a station wagon downtown just before midnight.

Higgs pointed to the importance of testimony given by Mrs.
Dorothy Clark, wife of an R.A.F.
flier who attended a dinner party at De Marigny's home July 7. She said De Marigny drove her and Mrs. Jean Ainslie to their homes, two doors from Westbourne. She looked at her watch as they left the downtown section, she said,
and learned it was 1:05 a.m.

TIME OF DEATH

"Dr. Fitzmaurice (Coroner L.
W. Fitzmaurice) told you that Sir Harry died four to six hours after his last meal, or from 1:30 until 3:30 a.m.," Higgs said.

"Mrs. Clark's testimony is vitally important because it leaves no time whatsoever in which the accused man could have committed the crime."

Higgs told the jury it must decide whether De Marigny or Lieut. John Douglas of the police made the statement that "Sir Harry, the old man, should have been killed, anyhow."

Douglas testified that De Marigny had made the remark, and De Marigny said the words had been spoken by Douglas.

Scarlet Fever Closes Vancouver College

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver College was ordered closed Tuesday by the city medical authorities "because of an outbreak of scarlet fever among students."

Instructions were issued that all day students be sent home and must remain on their own premises for one week. Boarders at the college have been placed in quarantine, with suspected under observation in a special ward.

So far six cases of the fever have been found in the college, with four suspected cases. But all students of the institution are considered meantime to have been contacts.

NANAIMO (CP)—Charles
Gordon, Nanaimo auto dealer, fined $5 and costs Monday, was fined another $10 and costs Tuesday on a charge of selling trucks over prices allowed by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. He is appealing the case.

B.C. Blocks Move For Labor Control By Ottawa

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

OTTAWA — British Columbia has given notice to the federal government and the nation at large it won't allow any federal interference in labor policy after the war.

Hon. George Pearson, Labor Minister, has taken the stand at the Dominion-provincial conference here this week they will agree to federal intervention in labor matters during the war, but afterwards complete provincial control must be re-established.
Even during the war, B.C. urges that while the federal government should control labor policy, it should enforce this policy with the maximum use of the existing provincial, labor and conciliation machinery. Instead of setting up a new federal labor conciliation board in B.C., Mr. Pearson urges the Dominion should form a board out of provincial officials familiar with local conditions, with the possible addition of other experts.

POLITICAL SIGNIFICANCE
The stand taken by B.C. and other provinces in favor of provincial control of labor problems and the refusal of Quebec to admit federal control even in wartime, casts a long shadow ahead in Canadian politics. It means that all the programs of centralization such as that reached by the C.C.F., will encounter immediately the objection of the provinces which are determined to retain their full autonomy.

The first Japanese to land Sunday four miles northwest of Cape Torokina were met by a marine observation post which killed 30 of them. Later, patrol torpedo boats attacked one troop-laden barge, but it put into Atsinimua Bay, seven miles north of Cape Torokina where the marines had first established their beachhead.

More than 125 Japanese were slain Sunday and the marines sustained 60 casualties, Admiral Halsey's headquarters said.

forced to flee from the Continental Hotel in Sherbrooke early estimated at more than $75,000.

Elk Colliery plant near Fernie, to be operated by the Crow's Nest Coal Co. Ltd., is near completion. Equipped for an annual production of more than 1,000,000 tons of coal, it will cost more than $1,250,000.

fourth and largest war loan, amounting to $125,000,000 ($427, 500,000) was closed Tuesday and Cannberra reports state it was oversubscribed.

Anti-Chlorination Demand Still On Way
OTTAWA (CP)—Pensions Minister Mackenzie has not yet received a demand from the Vancouver City Council that chlorina-
tion of the city's water supply
be stopped, it was learned at his office today.

Pending receipt of a communication following adoption of a resolution to that effect by the council Tuesday, Mr. Mackenzie is not expected to make a statement.

A short time ago the minister received communications on the same subject from labor organizations in Vancouver and replied
to them directly.

Mine Union Chiefs
Appeal in Vain;
Strike Continues
CALGARY (CP)—Officials of
District 18, United Mine Workers of America, today appealed to miners in British Columbia and Alberta to return to work immediately when 5,500 of the 8,500
miners continued to disregard an earlier "back-to-work" order.
The strike for increased wages
began Oct. 31.

Union locals of Vancouver
Island at meetings Tuesday night
proposed a referendum vote be taken in District 18 to decide whether the Dominion government strike settlement proposals
should be immediately accepted.

Only miners of the Drumheller
Valley in Alberta and at Michel,
B.C., returned to work after the strike settlement proposal
reached at Ottawa last Saturday
following negotiations between
District 18 officials and Labor
Minister Mitchell.

The federal labor department
agreed to give the powers of a Regional War Labor Board to the Royal Commission now investigating the miners' demands for increased wages and overtime
pay for the sixth day of work in addition to holidays with pay
each year.

PUT FORTH BEST EFFORTS
"We are doing everything in our power to get them back,"
said Robert Livett, District 18
president.

The 2,000 striking miners of the Crow's Nest Pass area, however, will not return until tomorrow,
at the earliest, it then. At Edmonton Friday will be the earliest for reopening of the mines, Mr. Livett said.

John Stokluk, district vice-president, was scheduled to make a personal appeal to the strikers
of the Crow's Nest Pass area, at
a mass meeting to be held at Blairmore today. Miners of the Edmonton field had called a meeting for Thursday, said Mr.
Livett.

More than 500 of the striking miners met at Nanaimo, B.C.,
last night and 700 others at up-Island Cumberland. But their secret meetings were adjourned
without any definite action to return immediately to the pits.

Conflicting sentiments were expressed at a union meeting at Fernie, B.C., Tuesday night. Some
speakers favored continuing the strike, while others, including local officers, supported complying with instructions of the district union officials to return to work until Nov. 20, the deadline
set for a definite decision by the Royal Commission on their wage demands.

However, nothing was decided,
and the question was scheduled to be reopened today at meetings in Fernie and Michel, B.C.

Gestapo Troubled
By Migration, But Holds Firm Grip
By EDWIN SHANKE

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Reports from Germany on the eve of the 25th anniversary of the Armistice ending the first Great War, when the Gestapo broke the Kaiser's empire, indicate Heinrich Himmler's Gestapo still has the home front in a firm grip.

According to advices from inside Germany, Propaganda Minister Goebbels, SS officials, police chiefs and propaganda leaders held a conference in Berlin two weeks ago, studied the situation and decided that:

(1) The German security police should be strengthened and better armed.

(2) The quasi-military formations of the Nazi Party must be held in a state of intensified preparedness.

(3) Stricter control must be exercised over all areas in which industrial plants are located and over all port areas.

In line with these decisions, it was said, a new arsenal already has been established for the security police in the industrial centre of Prenzlau, 60 miles north of Berlin. Reports from Denmark also declared that approximately 3,000 SS men who were sent to Denmark during the recent disturbances there are being hurried back to Germany.

U.S. Marines Resist Beachheads Attacks In North Solomons

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

OTTAWA (CP)—Pensions Minister Mackenzie has not yet received a demand from the Vancouver City Council that chlorina-
tion of the city's water supply
be stopped, it was learned at his office today.

Pending receipt of a communication following adoption of a resolution to that effect by the council Tuesday, Mr. Mackenzie
is not expected to make a statement.

A short time ago the minister received communications on the
same subject from labor organizations in Vancouver and replied
to them directly.

Mine Union Chiefs
Appeal in Vain;
Strike Continues
CALGARY (CP)—Officials of
District 18, United Mine Workers
of America, today appealed to
miners in British Columbia and Alberta to return to work immediately when 5,500 of the 8,500
miners continued to disregard an earlier "back-to-work" order.
The strike for increased wages
began Oct. 31.

Union locals of Vancouver
Island at meetings Tuesday night
proposed a referendum vote be taken in District 18 to decide whether the Dominion government strike settlement proposals
should be immediately accepted.

Only miners of the Drumheller
Valley in Alberta and at Michel,
B.C., returned to work after the
strike settlement proposal
reached at Ottawa last Saturday
following negotiations between
District 18 officials and Labor
Minister Mitchell.

The federal labor department
agreed to give the powers of a Regional War Labor Board to the Royal Commission now investigating the miners' demands for increased wages and overtime
pay for the sixth day of work in addition to holidays with pay
each year.

PUT FORTH BEST EFFORTS
"We are doing everything in our power to get them back,"
said Robert Livett, District 18
president.

The 2,000 striking miners of
the Crow's Nest Pass area, however, will not return until tomorrow,
at the earliest, it then. At Edmonton Friday will be the earliest for reopening of the mines, Mr. Livett said.

John Stokluk, district vice-president, was scheduled to make
a personal appeal to the strikers
of the Crow's Nest Pass area, at
a mass meeting to be held at Blairmore today. Miners of the Edmonton field had called a meeting for Thursday, said Mr.
Livett.

More than 500 of the striking
miners met at Nanaimo, B.C.,
last night and 700 others at up-
Island Cumberland. But their secret meetings were adjourned
without any definite action to return immediately to the pits.

Conflicting sentiments were expressed at a union meeting at Fernie, B.C., Tuesday night. Some
speakers favored continuing the strike, while others, including
local officers, supported complying with instructions of the district union officials to return to work until Nov. 20, the deadline
set for a definite decision by the Royal Commission on their wage
demands.

However, nothing was decided,
and the question was scheduled

Anti-Strike Order Kept Dark, Says Leader

CALGARY (CP)—When the coal miners of Alberta and B.C. moved to correct an unfair standard of living, the "Fascist government of Canada," by order-in-council, made it a criminal offence for men to fight for betterment of their conditions and that of their families, declared Harold Winch, M.L.A., British Columbia C.C.F. leader, at a public meeting here Tuesday night.

After two years of government inaction, he said, the miners had decided to take the only means in their power to obtain what they wanted. The order-in-council, making it a criminal offence to strike, had been kept dark for three weeks in "the Hitler manner," said Mr. Winch.

Rights attained by years of struggle were being withdrawn under the guise of wartime conditions, he said.

"What would a C.C.F. government do about the British North America Act?" asked a member of the audience during the question period after the speech. "A C.C.F. government would scrap the B.N.A. Act and give Canada a Canadian constitution," said Mr. Winch.

Asked about the position of the police and military forces in the event of moves for a change, Mr. Winch replied that when "we become the government we will institute socialism immediately" and would use the power of the police and the military forces to force those opposed to obey the law.

"Those who defied the government's will would be treated as criminals," he declared, adding: "If capitalism says 'no,' then we know the answer—so did Russia."

About 1,350,000,000 pounds of farmers' stock peanuts of the 1942 crop were cleaned and shelled to meet the demands of peanut butter makers and other users; this is nearly 50 per cent more than cleaned and shelled the previous year.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Few statements could have gone deeper into the hearts of Britons and Americans than Prime Minister Churchill's warning Tuesday that, "unless, some happier event occurs on which we have no right to count," the European war in 1944 will produce the "greatest sacrifice of life by the British and American armies."

True, the Prime Minister eased that a bit by saying the Russian forces have inflicted wounds on the Nazi war machine "that may well prove mortal."

It strikes me that the danger is two-fold. It lies (1) in the desperation of Hitler and his gang, and (2) in the nature of the amphibious operations which the western Allies must carry out—the most difficult and dangerous of their kind ever undertaken.

FOUL NAZI METHODS

We need only turn to Hitler's Munich beer hall speech of Monday to get the first part of our answer. The Nazi leaders are cornered, and they will fight with every means available, fair and foul. There's small doubt that so far as Hitler is concerned he meant it when he declared:

"The last battle will bring the decision. Therefore we must continue to wage war with ruthless determination."

The best measure of Hitler's desperate determination came when he went to the extreme of threatening to use the headman's axe on Germans who try to surrender.

We still have to account for such striking power as may remain in what has been Hitler's strongest weapon—his army. The dictator's speech gives us the key to what probably is the greatest military danger we face in western Europe.

"Our enemies will discover," he said, "that it is one thing to land against Italians in Sicily and a very different thing against the Germans on the Channel to France or Norway."

BEACH-HEAD TESTS

If Hitler's war machine still has formidable power, then our greatest sacrifices are going to be on the beach-heads, wherever amphibious invasions are undertaken.

We know from such bloody operations as Dieppe and Salerno what these landings can mean. We need only add to that knowledge the reminder that the coming invasions are on a vast scale and will challenge defenses many times the strength of previous expeditions.

Mr. Churchill's warning must be taken to heart. He probably expects us at the same time to note that the Russian armies have Hitler's eastern forces in a precarious position. Should a general debacle hit the retreating Nazi line it would, to say the least, reduce the risks of the western invasions.

Canadians Oppose Lowering Voting Age; U.S. Supports

TORONTO — The theory that, if a man is old enough at 18 to fight, he is old enough to vote, has apparently not gained as many followers in Canada as it has in the United States. Most Canadians oppose the idea of lowering the voting age to 18, while most Americans now support it.

Comparison of opinion on this issue in Canada and the United States is made possible by Gallup polls in both countries. In Canada, the question was put to a cross-section of Canadians over 21 years of age, in this form: "It has been suggested that voting requirements be changed to allow persons 18, 19 and 20 years old to vote in elections. Would you approve or disapprove if this were done?"

The Gallup Poll of the United States (where a constitutional amendment embodying the proposal will possibly be introduced at the next session of Congress) put a similar question. The difference in the public attitude of the two countries toward reducing the voting age shows up in the table of results below:

	Canada	U.S.A.
Approve	35%	55%
Disapprove	54%	42%
Undecided	7%	3%

In the United States, public opinion on this question has shown a sharp reversal since Pearl Harbor, and the drafting of 18 year olds started. In June, 1939, 79 per cent of the United States public opposed lowering the voting age, and only 17 per cent favored it. Periodic Gallup polls since that time have shown steadily increasing support, until today, a majority show up in approval.

C.C.F. LEAD IN SUPPORT

In Canada today, Gallup Poll results show, the typical opponent of lowering the voting age is most likely to be a man, over 50 years of age himself, and a member of the Progressive Conservative Party. To some, the political implications of the proposal to lower the voting age are the most interesting feature. It may be significant that supporters of the Progressive Conservative Party (which, previous polls have shown, gets its greatest strength from voters over 49 years of age) are most opposed to the lowering of the age limit. The way the supporters of the three major political groups divide on the issue can be seen from this table:

	Liberal	C.C.F.	Pro. Cons.
Approve	35%	45%	30%
Disapprove	54%	54%	65%
Undecided	7%	1%	5%

It is not surprising to find that the younger voters are less opposed to allowing 18 year olds to vote than are the older generation. Even with the younger group, however, the largest number do not favor extending the franchise downwards.

	21-24 Years	25-34 Years	Over 35 Years
Approve	45%	38%	34%
Disapprove	49%	56%	64%
Undecided	6%	6%	2%

On the basis of latest census figures, if Canadians 18, 19 and 20 years of age were permitted to vote, the number of potential voters in the Dominion would be augmented by about 650,000 persons. On the basis of the voting habits of their elders, only about 70 per cent of this group, or about 450,000 might be expected to vote in a normal federal election. (World Copyright Reserved)

Duranty Says Russia May Help Crush Japan

WINNIPEG (CP)—Walter Duranty, noted foreign correspondent, said in an interview here that with the danger of German aggression removed and with air support from the United Nations assured, Russia may declare war on Japan.

Here to address a public meeting sponsored by the Winnipeg Press Club, Mr. Duranty said "Russia has every reason to fight Japan as Siberia is one of the most important parts of her country and it would be non-profitable to have it barred from the Pacific by Japan." Furthermore, he said Russia has not forgotten the Japanese aggression of 1904-1905.

The World's Second Chance

ONLY A FEW HOURS AFTER THIS IS read, at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, to be precise, a quarter of a century will have elapsed since we in this office and countless millions throughout the world were celebrating what everybody hoped and believed was the end of the last of the great wars. Never again would humanity be called upon to go through another devastating ordeal such as that which had held the universe in its grip of terror for four years and three months. But the armistice negotiated on that far-off November day was destined to provide merely an interlude between the conclusion of one phase of a period of carnage and the beginning of the next. None would have admitted that possibility at the time. All the peoples of every land—Allied, enemy, and neutral—were convinced that statesmanship would be equal to any challenge to peace in the future.

As we attune our minds to the prospect of the fifth winter of the costliest and most diabolically-brutal war in history it may not profit us much to wander down the corridor of time and reflect on the years between November, 1918, and September, 1939. But in the light of our emotions and our hopes of a quarter of a century ago, it may not be altogether amiss to recall some of the danger signals we so blithely ignored in the spurious palmy days of the interregnum—to note how a world bankrupt in statesmanship drifted hopelessly into this global cataclysm. It is only necessary to bring back a few of them to our minds: The warnings of the dangers of economic nationalism in the '20's; the total disregard for the pledged word which permitted the imperialistic march of Japan into Manchuria in 1931; the complacency with which the so-called defenders of democracy looked idly on while Mussolini raped Ethiopia in 1935; the apparent calm with which Germany's supposed conquerors of 1918 contemplated Hitler's march into the Rhineland in 1936—these were some of the more blatant "incidents" which mocked the pledge so long associated with the observance of tomorrow's ceremonial. We failed those who gave all they possessed.

The world nevertheless will have a second chance to do what it ought to have done and could have done had it learned the lessons of the first Great War. And the events of recent days encourage the belief that the next peace will not be bungled. Even the traditionalists are beginning to accommodate their brittle mentalities to the changed and ever-changing scene. Not that the bells of victory will ring in the Millennium; much heart-searching and adjustments that will go against the grain in some quarters must accompany the transition from war to peace. But there is visible on the distant horizon the prospect of a better day. Mankind must see to it that the mists of the morning do not remain too long.

Mr. Meighen And Russia

MR. MEIGHEN'S RECENT "HICKORY stick" speech in Vancouver has received a good deal of attention across Canada, especially the part of it in which he spoke of the Russians. He is quoted as saying:

"We owe much to them. That speaks nothing, however, for the system under which unemployment was abolished. They stripped all the population of its power to possess anything except goods needed from day to day. The robbing of the 'great incentive' so reduced the aggregate of production that for two years starvation spread over Russia."

Denying that the Russians can possess nothing but the goods required from day to day, the Toronto Star quotes their constitution, Article 10, as follows: "The right of citizens to personal ownership of their incomes from work and of their savings, of their dwelling houses and of their subsidiary household economy, their household furniture and utensils and articles of personal use and convenience, as well as the right of inheritance of personal property of citizens, is protected by law."

As for Mr. Meighen's reference to "robbing of the great incentive" of gain, it is to be noted that incomes are not at a dead level in the U.S.S.R. The better workman has a chance to earn the better pay and gets first choice of vacation and other privileges. Production has not been throttled, or Russia would not be now having the output of war equipment that is making possible the stupendous operations of her armies all along the eastern front.

The Russians, too, have set us an example in self-denial. They denied themselves the comforts they might otherwise have enjoyed in order that their heavy industries might be developed and their country made safe against the attack which would otherwise have overwhelmed them. Russia since the revolution experienced famines, as she did in the days of the Czars. Her going in the transition days, when the old system was being replaced by the new, was hard. The subsequent development period likewise provided its trials. Of course, it is not a system which Canada needs or is likely to adopt, but fortunately for us, in combatting the German menace, it has made Russia the most powerful nation in Europe.

All Records Beaten

EVERYTHING SAID AND WRITTEN IN advance about the bright hopes for the success of Canada's Fifth Victory Loan has been more than borne out by actual achievement. Before the books for this issue were opened on October 18, Canadians had on deposit in the chartered banks—in current and savings accounts—nearly $3,000,000,000, or three times the amount for which Finance Minister Ilsley had asked. While a great part of this money, of course, must necessarily remain on call for use in public and private and personal business, officials of the National War Finance Committee throughout the Dominion were never in doubt about the overall response. But perhaps even they are a little astonished that incomplete totals already show an increase of nearly $40,000,000 over the final official record of subscriptions for the Fourth issue of last spring—to say nothing of the important fact that the number of bond purchasers reported to last night exceeded by 340,000 the list at the same stage of 1943's earlier campaign.

As this is written, Canadians have subscribed $1,337,887,850 to the Fifth Victory Loan, compared with $1,309,317,300 to the Fourth, the minimum total asked for on the latter occasion being $1,100,000,000, against $1,200,000,000 this time. But in view of the fact that a large number of subscriptions are yet to be reported, the National War Finance Committee has decided to issue a further supplementary statement over the coming week-end. It will not be surprising, therefore, if the final figure takes the complete response to more than $1,400,000,000. As it stands today, however, Canada and Canadians are entitled to take pride in a financial achievement that will cheer the hearts of the men and women in uniform overseas. And we now have further proof that the people of this country know a good investment when they see one.

'H.M.C.S. Beaconhill'

DURING THE COURSE OF HIS interestingly-phrased and impromptu remarks after the launching of "H.M.C.S. Beaconhill" last Saturday, Mr. Norman Yarrow, head of the firm which built her, treated a small informal gathering to a little bit of history to explain why it was not possible to christen this latest addition to the Canadian Navy after the capital city of this province. Tradition apparently decrees that when a naval vessel is lost through causes other than enemy action, she takes her name with her, and it must never be used again.

The last "Victoria" was a first-class battleship of 12,000 tons, with a personnel of 60 officers and 600 men, flying the flag of Admiral Sir George Tryon, commanding the Mediterranean Fleet. On June 22, 1893, the squadron being off Tripoli on the coast of Syria, in two columns, Tryon made a signal to invert the course, the ships turning inwards in succession. By a fatal error, the psychological cause of which has never been explained, he ignored the patent fact that the two columns were so near each other that the manoeuvre, as ordered, must entail the most serious risk, if not certainty, of collision. Precisely this happened; the "Victoria" was split by the "Camperdown" and sank in a few minutes, taking Tryon and 358 officers and men with her.

Despite the historic reason why the new frigate was not named the "Victoria," however, the explanation which Mr. Yarrow so aptly gave enabled him to round out his remarks with a concise recital of the utilitarian antecedents—also of especial naval significance—of Beacon Hill, once a vital site of two navigational beacons. These were the symbols which kept the mariner on a safe course in the neighborhood of Brodie Ledge. And the mast on the hill of Victoria's playground thus will always maintain an invisible link with the mast of "H.M.C.S. Beaconhill."

'Raid'

OUR AIRMEN CARRYING THE WAR over Germany are reported liked by the inadequacies of the word "raid." They would seem to have a pretty strong case, because the word just does not have the roar, rumble and thunder that characterize pulverization attacks on places like Hamburg, Kassel and Schweinfurt. Nor does it convey to the headline-reading mind a reasonably accurate sense of the magnitude of such missions or of the precise planning, the hard work and the great personal valor that are involved in them. In short, as they see it, it simply is not powerful enough for the wartime job it has been called upon to do.

Yet "raid" has been a rather serviceable and versatile word up to now. The dictionary sets it down as meaning "a hostile or predatory incursion." It came to us in its military sense from Scotland and probably there was much used to describe one of the chief occupations of the Highland clans. In domestic life with us the word is a synonym for what some operators used to do in the stock markets and what law enforcement officers will always do when they descend on a place "for the purpose of making arrests, seizing illicit stores, or the like."

Altogether, it would appear to be a useful, well-tried word that should escape obsolescence for a long time to come, no matter what may be invented to do greater descriptive justice to the mighty air blows of this war. As for any such invention, it might well be pointed out to persons who may have ideas, that any new word for our giant bomber attacks should be short. An outstanding virtue of "raid" is its expressive compactness, which is why war correspondents and headline-writers resort to it so much.

The best way to show your mettle these days is to show it to the scrap metal drive collector.

OTTAWA

OLD STORY

ONE HATES TO mention it again, for the subject is old, threadbare and boring, but the real danger of inflation is just beginning in Canada and, in fact, all over America. All our success in holding down the cost of living so far has been relatively easy. The job is just beginning. This is clear from many signs. Labor troubles in Canada are producing a slow upward movement in wages. Wages raise costs. Costs raise prices. In the end the housewife pays the whole shot, whether she knows it or not. The cost-of-living bonus itself raises costs which must reach the consumer sooner or later, but the larger danger is that the wage ceiling may be punctured through such events as the coal strike settlement, which is pending at this writing.

CONGRESS FAILS

THE SITUATION in the United States—if it is any cold comfort—is worse than here. The latest news from Washington shows that Congress is simply refusing to deal with the inflation problem at all and, in the most reckless sort of political manoeuvre, is letting prices take care of themselves.

Early this year President Roosevelt asked Congress to stop inflation! In the only way it can be stopped—by draining off purchasing power and thus preventing people bidding against each other for a short supply of goods. The President suggested the levying of $16,000,000,000 of new income taxes to this end. Congress has levied no new taxes at all and apparently is unable to think of anything better than a sales tax, which would aggravate the problem by raising the cost of many goods to the public. Meanwhile the cost of living rises, wage increases have been granted in some industries, the original wage freeze has become something of a fiction, labor has become restive because it sees no insurance against increasing prices, and the economy of the nation is heading into a glorious binge.

NOT DISASTER

THIS MAKES OUR situation here look rather good by comparison but it is no comfort in the end, for inflation in the United States is bound to make inflation much more likely in this country. Our two economies are closely integrated these days and it is not easy to isolate one from the shocks of the other.

However, all this does not mean that we are spinning towards disaster or anything of the sort. It means only that we must redouble our efforts in Canada to hold the line—if not the original line exactly then a line a little further back. After all, it is a matter of time in the end, for the conclusion of the war will begin to release anti-inflationary forces, just as the war released the forces of inflation. Once civilian industry can start to produce consumable goods instead of guns the tendency will be for prices to fall again. The question is whether the war will end before we have allowed wages and prices to raise to a dangerous level.

It is a mistake to suppose, however, that the whole inflationary danger will disappear with the war, for the simple reason that we shall still face a grave shortage of some goods after the war—especially foodstuffs which we must ship to the devastated countries, even at the cost of going a little short ourselves. But in many lines of manufactured goods we shall have a larger supply to offer the people. Some war factories are even beginning now to convert their production from war to peacetime goods, in a small preliminary way. This movement will gather momentum as the war nears its end.

Thus our problem which is very grave today is not a permanent problem. We have to pull our belts in now, keep our demand for goods to a minimum, probably buy one more Victory bond at least, and pay higher taxes, but we can see the end of the inflationary menace. The question is whether we have the sense to hold our line until the end actually arrives.

REMEMBRANCE DAY!

Remembrance Day! And poppies red. How fitting!—red like blood—The blood you shed And others—yes, a very flood That stained those poppies red.

Remembrance Day! No, rather years, You sat first here, and tried To calm my fears—When we come home my bride You said, we'll do away with tears.

Remembrance Day! Two poppies red. He never knew you, though—At times he said I'll find the place where poppies grow And blow—above my father's head.

Remembrance Day! Can it be That man will ever understand and know? It is God's will they see The way to live at peace above—not sleep below—The lovely land, the glorious earth—where poppies grow.

Why Border Barriers?

Removal of restrictive immigration barriers between Canada and the United States is being advocated editorially by the Miller Freeman group of trade journals, published in Seattle and San Francisco.

Referring to the recent action of the Pacific Northwest Trade Association in urging modification of border regulations, Pacific Pulp & Paper Industry and other journals of the Miller Freeman group declare that such an attitude was based on realism and common sense.

"After all, we in the United States and Canada are in the war together, and some day we will be solving the problems of peace together," the journal points out. There is no substitute for personal contact in maintaining the complete harmony and mutual understanding that are so necessary for both countries.

"To those fortunate individuals who have not been initiated into the mysteries, complications and confusions of border crossing in recent months, it is almost incredible that such conditions as actually exist should be considered necessary even in wartime. To those who have survived the ordeal it is a bitter memory of inconvenience, loss of time and often personal hardship—and to what purpose?"

"Gas rationing, shortage of hotel, boat and train accommodation have discouraged most people from moving from place to place unless they have good reason for doing so. Most of these inconveniences are no doubt justified."

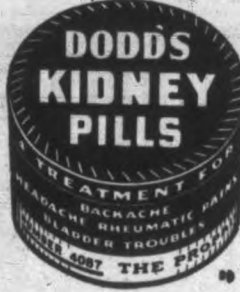

"But the snarl of red tape from which the border crosses must extricate himself is in a very different category. Obviously, there is good cause for maintaining an official record of those who travel in and out of a country. Obviously, it is necessary to provide the means of keeping out undesirables.

"But it is highly questionable whether a policy of deliberately discouraging Canadians from visiting the United States and Americans from going across the boundary into Canada, such as is now in effect, can be defended on any grounds other than those of a blind officialdom."

WAR—25 YEARS AGO TODAY

Nov. 10, 1918—Canadian patrols entered Mons as French forces took Hiron, surrounded Meuzeres and crossed the Meuse River, and American troops pushed toward Montmedy. The Kaiser and his staff escaped into Holland and Workmen's Councils were formed throughout Germany.

5 U-Boats a Week Sunk By Allies In Last 3 Months

LONDON (AP)—The Allies sank nearly five U-boats a week the last three months and went farther ahead of the undersea raiders by holding merchant ship losses below that figure, the British and United States governments announced today.

Reporting approximately 60 Nazi submarines sent to the bottom in that period, the statement said the attrition ratio between U-boats and merchant ships in October was the best of the war.

The continued success of the anti-submarine campaign brought to more than 150 the number of Axis undersea raiders destroyed in the last six months, said the statement, issued under authority of Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt.

It declared Allied air and surface assaults had so far proved themselves able to "cope successfully" with the new Nazi U-boat weapons and tactics.

Merchant ship tonnage lost in the three months was announced as less than half the losses of the previous three months.

"Our tonnage losses from all causes in October were the second lowest of any month of the war," the statement revealed.

Check Nazi Smuggling

LONDON (CP)—German attempts to smuggle vital war materials out of Latin America in neutral ships sailing to the Iberian Peninsula have been uncovered. Some of these things are so small they can be carried by individual crew men.

To Mental Hospital After Kidnap Hearing

ALBANY, Ore. (AP)—Mrs. Catherine Wright, 26, charged with abducting two-day-old Judith Gurney from a hospital crib last August was found mentally deficient by a sanity commission Tuesday.

Circuit Judge L. G. Lewelling, who appointed the commission, directed the county court to commit Mrs. Wright to an institution for mental treatment. The court is expected to take action within a few days.

The Gurney baby, believed the youngest child ever abducted, was found by police in Mrs. Wright's home, where neighbors said she had told them the girl was her own.

Police said the abduction climaxed nine months of simulated pregnancy, carried out so well that even her army-sergeant husband believed Mrs. Wright was expecting a child.

The sanity commission's decision releases Mrs. Wright from trial. District Attorney Harlow Weinrick said, however, that she will still be subject to prosecution should she be released from the hospital. She has been held in county jail till the present.

old custom in Naples and some other Italian cities has been to hang the macaroni up to dry on wooden rods, in shops, or even out on the edge of the sidewalk. To handle macaroni in that way is to invite germs which are spread by flies or dust. The macaroni must be cooked before eating, and that should kill the germs, but people in our land would rather have their macaroni come in boxes from a sanitary factory.
One excuse may be given for hanging macaroni in public view. If it is dried by hanging over a rod, Italians say it is a proof that it was made with the right kind of flour. When made of flour taken from the wrong kind of wheat, it will break when hung up.
Spaghetti is more popular with many Italians than macaroni. It is made in much the same way but is pressed from the machines so it comes out as a string or cord, instead of a tube. The word "spaghetti" means "little cord."
Vermicelli is the thinnest member of the macaroni family. It comes from the machines in thread-like form.

Italians Have Excuse For Drying Macaroni In Public View

Many soldiers of the United Nations are getting to see more macaroni and spaghetti than they ever saw before. I am thinking of the men who have gone into Italy to drive out the Germans.
Italy is the original home of macaroni, and the yellowish-white food product is a national dish among Italians. So far as the wheat supply has held out, it has been made all through the present war. The Italians have been on short rations, but macaroni has kept an important place on their tables, also spaghetti and vermicelli.

A special kind of wheat is used in making macaroni. This wheat has more gluten in it than most other wheat, and it is widely grown in southern Europe and Algeria. Now that sea routes are open between southern Italy and northern Africa, the supply of macaroni wheat should become better.
The wheat is ground, and the bran is taken out. Then water is added to the powdered wheat, and a dough is prepared.
Macaroni-making machines press the dough into tubes. An

Kiwanis Christmas Seals Out Shortly

Charles W. Pangman has again accepted the chairmanship of the Kiwanis Christmas Seal Committee, according to Murray Martindale, president of the Victoria Kiwanis Club.

The seal sale will open shortly and continue until Christmas. A large committee of Kiwanians and their friends are now engaged in preparing seals for mailing to citizens of Greater Victoria.

Funds from seals sold will be used for rehabilitation of tuberculosis patients.

Committee headquarters is located at the Bank of Toronto, corner Yates and Broad Streets.

National Appeal To Salvage Rags

Special plea to salvage workers to collect rags, especially cotton goods, has been issued by Samuel Godfrey, War-time Prices and Trades Board Used Goods administrator, who specifies particularly that rag for use of wipers in the armed forces and war factories is urgently needed.

"I wish to put special emphasis on what are known as wiping rags, consisting of old cotton shirts and underwear, cotton aprons and dresses," he said. "Also sheeting and curtain materials. These are used primarily for armed forces' mechanical establishments and munitions factories for cleaning machines."

"Canada supplies only a small percentage of its wiping rags and is dependent for the balance on the import market. It is difficult to procure these import rags at the present time, consequently it is doubly urgent that Canadian householders be requested to salvage their cast-off cotton wearing and household materials."

"Your co-operation in this will be very much appreciated."

Liquor Runs Low; U.S. Fears Return Of Bootleggers

NEW YORK (CP)—No whiskies are being distilled in the United States to replace decreasing reserves, imports from Britain are away down and the liquor trade is worried, fearing a return of bootleggers.

In almost every state supplies of Scotch, domestic whisky and Bourbon have been cut to as low as 40 per cent of normal. Rum, much of it imported from Cuba, gins and brandies are fairly plentiful, and so far shortages of beer in some localities have been due to transportation difficulties. But the trade shudders to think of the pending holiday rush and what it will do to scanty reserves.

Some states have instituted rationing, with the quantities allowed generally more than allotted Canadian drinkers, whose rations range from 26 to 52 ounces monthly. Michigan has begun card rationing at the rate of one quart of whisky a month, plus whatever "dividend" the stocks will permit.

RUM ALTERNATIVE

In Iowa whisky rations are on the basis of a quart every other week, with rum and brandy sold as available on alternate weeks. Christmas this season will fall in a "whisky week."

Indiana hasn't seen domestic whisky for weeks; Cuban whisky appeared there two weeks ago. Similar reports come from other states.

Word from Kentucky is that even in that state, heart of the U.S. whisky industry, bottled-in-bond, honest-to-goodness Bourbon is impossible to obtain. Blended whisky now is the thing.

An estimated 35 per cent of New York City's bars are without whisky.

The conference of Alcoholic Beverage Industries is concerned with a growing black market. The association announced Tuesday that it is launching a nationwide advertising program urging the public to pay no more than legal ceiling prices and to deal only with licensed retailers.

Kiwanians Elect Directors for Year

Marked with brevity, humor and one-minute speeches, a campaign for election of seven directors, highlighted the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club Tuesday.

Charles Bovey, H. L. Campbell, M. V. Chestnut, Denis Hagar, Walter Jeune, Ralph Matthews and Arnold McDermid were elected directors. Forrest L. Shaw is the next president; Robert W. Hiberson, vice-president, and Alfred W. Jones, treasurer. They will take office Jan. 1.

"Candidates for the civic election should be here to get a few pointers," remarked Murray Martindale, president, as he called upon campaign managers for their speeches.

In his annual report Mr. Martindale said that Kiwanis membership stood at 103. He spoke briefly of the work of each committee, emphasizing in particular the club's participation in boys' work. Treasurer Jones outlined the following Kiwanis projects: T.B. rehabilitation, scholarship for boy ranking highest in his first year at college, Y.M.C.A. boys' work, boys' camp, donation to Red Cross and grant to Solarium.

Mr. Shaw, in a brief address, told members preparations would have to be made in 1944 to meet the problems of peace, whether the war ended that year or not.

"One of the biggest jobs that ever faced a country will be ahead of us," he said, speaking of the rehabilitation of men and women of the armed forces, particularly casualties of war. "Today we see the vision of victory."

5th Victory Loan Total Tops Quota By $137,887,850

OTTAWA (CP)—Subscriptions to the $1,200,000,000 Fifth Victory Loan which closed last Saturday now total $1,337,887,850, including reports to National Loan headquarters, making the drive the greatest money-borrowing campaign in Canadian history.

The previous record was the $1,309,317,300 when the books were finally closed in last spring's Fourth Victory Loan drive for $1,100,000,000.

Reports which came in Monday and Tuesday, said Loan headquarters, provided an additional 253,431 subscriptions worth $35,260,000. With some units still to report their final figures the total number of bond purchasers stands at 2,607,276—some 340,000 more than at the same stage of the fourth loan reporting.

With today's figures, the objective of $525,000,000 in subscriptions from individuals had been exceeded, standing at $538,000,000.

"In view of the fact that there is a large number of subscriptions yet to be reported, the National War Finance Committee plans to issue a further supplementary announcement over the coming week-end," said headquarters.

From the armed forces, still incomplete, came $34,769,600, compared with the $26,791,650 final total in the Fourth Loan—an increase of $7,977,950. It is 169.2 per cent of the combined total objective of $20,500,000 in this loan.

Celebration of the 25th anniversary of the signing of the World War I Armistice, which started in Victoria last week with the sale of poppies on the street and church services Sunday, will reach a climax tomorrow at a series of impressive ceremonies in which Victorians will pay tribute to those who gave their lives in the last and present world wars.

TWO-MINUTE SILENCE

Following the gun, two minutes' silence will be observed.

Acting on behalf of Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward, Lt.-Col. F. Brooke Stephenson, will lay a wreath on the War Memorial.

Members and friends of the 3rd and 16th battalions Canadian Scottish Regiment, will attend a service at the 16th Canadian Scottish Battalion Cross in Pioneer Square at 12.15 tomorrow.

The service will be conducted by Rev. J. L. W. McLean of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and the Lament will be played by Capt. C. R. Wilson, one of the original pipers of the 16th Battalion.

Bishop John C. Cody will chant the solemn Pontifical requiem mass and Libera at the annual Remembrance Day service at St. Andrew's Cathedral. The service will begin at 10.55 tomorrow. The occasional sermon will be given by Rev. T. J. Mangan of Sacred Heart Church, Lake Hill.

With due solemnity, Victoria churches last Sunday observed the 25th anniversary of the signing of the armistice.

ARMISTICE-1918

Across the 25-year span from November, 1918, to November, 1943, we have seen war, prosperity, depression, the laxity of peacetime, then war again and now attack. Tomorrow our observance of Armistice Day comes as a bitter reminder that the great World War did not end in 1918, and presents an opportunity to resolve that this conflict be brought to a permanent conclusion.

Victorians, like the people in all other Allied countries, went wild with joy when the Armistice was announced in 1918. Street dancing was popular. The above picture not only shows street dancing but the kind of clothes the girls wore during those delirious hours.

IN NAPLES THEY DANCED FOR JOY IN THE STREETS—No picture yet to come out of Naples has shown the joy of the liberated people more vividly than this one of men, women and children dancing down the street to cheer troops of the Allied 5th Army.

How Last War Armistice Came to One Victoria Soldier

By KAY MCINTYRE

TIME WAS running out on the Western Front just 25 years ago when Sgt. Archie Wills, 58th Battery, C.F.A., now managing editor of the Times, recorded the last days of warfare before the Armistice. In the following excerpts from his diary is the story of the artillery unit with which he served as the Canadian divisions made their final plunge at the German lines. Everyone knew victory was close, yet few realized it was quite so near.

CIVILIANS HIDING IN CELLARS

Nov. 3 (Sunday) — Weather fine. Up at 4.45 a.m. Went forward at 8 a.m. Proceeded at 11 a.m. into Valenciennes, the first battery in. Saw the battered section and bridges blown up. We crossed on new one, passed famous Hotel de Ville and up Caserne Vincent, where streets flooded. People went crazy when they saw us. They lived in the cellars while the bombardment was going on. Put guns in a big square and have wagon lines in rear and have grand stable accommodation and fine billets. The sergeants have a palace, everything one could wish for, piano, organ, beds with canopies, with hurdy-gurdies in stables and the like. The Boche intended taking the civvies away and lots of material but the pincers closed too quickly. There is an abundance of clothing here, dress suits, beautiful ladies' clothes, everything left just as it had been hung up a few days before. It seems a shame.

We have a bunch of boys sick now, due to dirty barn which had been used as a billet for 10 days.

Nov. 4—Weather fair. Up at 4 a.m. with orders to go ahead. Left position with guns at 6.30 and went through Valenciennes to next town, where we put the guns in action along side of a chateau—where the boys had a good home. The Boche is going back fast and we had to go forward tonight. Gun limbers and teams spent night at chateau. Wagons hauling ammunition most of the night. Hurry-up call for ammunition early in the morning for a barrage. The roads are congested with traffic these days.

'WE MAY HIT FOR BERLIN'

Nov. 5—Weather wet. Thought we would lose our home today but stayed on and got word that Austria-Hungary had capitulated. It seems only a matter of weeks before the thing is over.

Nov. 6—Raining all day. Orders say to go ahead. Went up to Onnains and hooked into guns which went into action in Quadruple. The Boche is going back quickly and we are right on his heels. He's licked to a fare-you-well. Hear we may have to hit for Berlin. Fired a barrage into Belgium this morning. Had to haul ammunition from sauerkraut factory and had an awful time in the dark. Three big craters in one town... the first time Fritz made a job of blowing up the road. They're in a bad mess. Came up at a trot and made the cobblestones ring at 2 a.m. Had rum issue and felt better.

OUR LAST BARRAGE?

Nov. 7—Reveille at 7.30, as everyone was out late last night. Call for limbers this morning. At last we are to have a short rest in our present billets. This is fine, as both men and horses are well situated. As we looked at the guns we were wondering whether they had fired their last shots or not. There does not seem to be much chance of Germany holding out. I hope we get a chance to bombard some of their towns, just to show the people what French cities had to put up with.

Nov. 8—Cleaning guns and vehicles. Great war news today. We are all talking about getting home and wondering how many more years it will take. Some have hopes of early sailing, others of a long stay. Still we are giving one another our addresses and telephone numbers. It's a great life right now. We moved our billet and have another good place. We were up late tonight, figuring on 14 days' rest, and the rumj ar was passed around. It seemed good to be able to sit around and not have to go up the line at any hour of the night. Our dreams have been shattered. Just as we were going to bed, order came to move in the morning.

LONG TRAIL TO MONS

Nov. 9—Reveille at 4 a.m. Moved off at 7.30 and hit the long trail to Mons. Came up close to border of Belgium and put up horse-lines for day. We came through for a special show but Fritz pulled out during the night and there was no need of artillery. The Boche is done. Saw where a Canadian got a Boche in a window and stuck another one through the stomach. In next town are eight civilians killed by Fritz, including one naked girl. Had beefsteak and onions. It was terrible to see the refugees going down the road, old and young, pushing improvised carts loaded to the fill.

Nov. 10—Weather very good. As usual, we have a move on today. Lots of peace talk. Got order to shift up again, which means that our rest is shot to pieces. We went through Quivrain and passed from France into Belgium and saw the dividing post and the change in the color of the tricolor. We again saw the refugees. Here the people seem in better health than in France. The children are healthy. France was certainly downtrodden. The boys all give the people a lift. The lorries take their stuff and it is tough to see the women riding on the ammunition wagons, getting the livers jarred out of them. It must have been painful. Fritz had left in such a hurry that he did not have a chance to take any cattle or stock, and all mines are in working order. We pitched our wagon lines in Thulin and went to billets; Dick Martin, Ross and Geat and I have a fine billet in a Belgian home.

'LA GUERRE FINI'

Nov. 11—Weather fine. Inspection this morning. Peace was proclaimed at 11. The church bells rang and everyone was shouting: "La guerre fini, tres bon!" The official news was read to us at 2 o'clock parade. There was a big noise. Everyone now is figuring "when will we get home?" There are all kinds of rumors regarding what will be done with us but there is nothing official.

It all seems so strange. No more fighting, no more killing. No planes overhead, no whining shells, going out and coming in. No more trips up the line, no more lugging ammunition in the dark. No more gas and no more flattening on our stomachs when the stuff comes too close.

SINCE ZERO HOUR AT AMIENS

The last three months have been strenuous. We had no idea at zero hour at Amiens Aug. 8 that the war would be over now. We've always talked about the "first seven years being the worst." We've come a long way since then: Hangard Wood, Quenoy, Rouvroy, Parvillers, Arras, Monchy, the fierce fight to break the Hindenburg Line, Dury, Bourlon Wood, Cambrai, Denain, Valenciennes and Mons. We've lost some pals on the way, but we've got the memory of some great times with them. And we've lost some horses, good horses, horses that took us home when it was so dark we couldn't find the way ourselves.

Got a parcel from home last night and there was some jam in it. The madame made some pies for us. They were great. She has coffee for us whenever we come in. The old gent killed a Belgian hare to celebrate and has dug up a couple of bottles of wine. Immediate prospects good.

Nov. 12—Horses in covered barns now, having taken a Belgian's farm close to our billets. I met the madame after stables and she shouted "La guerre fini" and I shouted, too, and she kissed me and was quite excited. At noon we wandered in and shouted "La guerre fini" and the daughters kissed us all. They got us dancing and had us dizzy. There's plenty of tea and coffee and we'll be as yellow as China-men if we drink much more.

Victoria's War Memorial, where tomorrow, thousands of citizens will honor the war dead of the First and Second World War.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

WE WONDER just how many Victorians realize that the Victoria Golf Club, celebrating its 50th anniversary, holds the distinction of being one of the oldest links on the Pacific coast. Organized in 1893 the club has successfully weathered one Great War and depression and is at present in a first-class condition despite the loss of a great many of its members to the armed forces in the present conflict.

Paying a visit to the club this week we spent a pleasant hour or so chatting with three long-time officials of the club, secretary J. V. Perks, professional Phil Taylor and assistant pro and jockey master Hugh McKenzie. Perks and Taylor have been associated with Oak Bay for the past 23 years while McKenzie, commonly known as the "Canny Scot," has spent 22 winters and summers tending to the wants of the members.

The Oak Bay club has acted as host to just about all the number one golfers in the world. Chatting to Taylor we asked him for his opinion of the finest exhibition he had ever witnessed over the course. The stocky little pro never hesitated a minute in replying: "Joyce Wethered's performance in her exhibition match partnered with Joe Pryke against Marjorie (Todd) Finney and myself. In that exhibition Miss Wethered displayed the finest golf I have ever witnessed in my long association with the game."

It was only natural that we should ask Taylor to give us his opinion of the finest golfer he had ever watch play over Oak Bay. Once again Phil came up with his answer in a flash: "Benny Hogan," he replied. "He was the finest piece of golfing machinery that ever stroked a ball over Oak Bay." Questioned about the many fine amateurs who have played the sea-girt course in the last 20 years Taylor gave the number one honor to Harry Givan of Seattle and selected Jimmy Todd as the peer of the locals. Taylor was a little dubious about naming the best local woman amateur choosing to select several as having displayed a lot of golfing ability. The group included Marlon Wilson, Mrs. Hew Paterson, Mrs. E. Jackson, Marjorie Todd and Mrs. Jack Todd.

Taylor then brought out an interesting sidelight while we were chatting about the women players. "Do you realize that

Mrs. Hew Paterson had the lowest women's handicap in this club 30 years ago and holds the same distinction today? I'm sure that must be some kind of a record."

Looking into the future Taylor named Stan Leonard of Vancouver as the Pacific Northwest professional with the brightest prospects. "I just wish I could hit the ball like Leonard and could go back a few years." There was a bright twinkle in his eyes as Taylor no doubt looked back over the years to the days when he was in his prime.

Oak Bay club also holds the distinction of having been the scene of the first tournament of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association in November, 1923. Brain child of Senator G. H. Barnard the association has survived a depression and war years to become one of the finest organizations of its kind on the continent.

Passing years have seen many changes in the original course, until now the 18-hole layout has reached the point where further development is impossible. In other words it is perfect. Construction of two more grass tees and that work will have been completed. "This course is plenty long enough although some golfers seem to feel it is short," Taylor remarked. "If Oak Bay was 6,500 yards there would be many days in the year when the average golfer would not be able to play it owing to the climatic conditions. They just wouldn't be able to get over such a distance. You'll remember the greatest tournament ever held here, the Gold Trail in 1936 which attracted many of the ranking professionals in the United States. Of that group of hot-shot players only one, Horton Smith, the winner, was able to break par for the four rounds and he was only one under."

As the club passes its 50th milestone it loses the services of one of its grandest personalities in secretary Perks who has decided to retire. In passing from the active list of the Oak Bay club, secretary Perks will take with him the affection and good wishes of golfers from all parts of Canada and the United States. However, "Cappy" Perks will not be lost to the golfing world as he will retain his secretarial position with the seniors a job he has handled in admirable fashion since the association was formed.

Pacific Command Track Meet

400 Athletes Compete

With close to 400 crack athletes participating, the track and field championships of the Pacific Command will be held at Macdonald Park, Wednesday, Nov. 17. The sports were originally scheduled for Aug. 11, and postponed. Eliminations will start at 10 in the morning, with the finals scheduled for 1.45.

Maj. W. S. Oliver, sports officer for Esquimalt Fortress, said today the command had been split into six areas and 50 athletes from each would compete for the prizes on the 20-event program. In addition, 72 members of the C.W.A.C. will take part.

With the entire Pacific Command taking part, some of the finest track and field performers in the country will be on show. Maj. Oliver expressed the opinion every event would produce the keenest competition.

In the evening at the Bay Street Armories a big army boxing show will be staged. The boxing will be followed by a dance.

Maj. Oliver stated that the boxing and the dance would be open only to service personnel, their wives and lady friends. The track and field meet will be open to the public. All events will be free. The C.W.A.C. brass and pipe bands will be in attendance at both the track meet and boxing show.

Toronto Beaches Navy in Crucial Football Battle

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Balm Beach and Toronto Navy wind up the scheduled season in the Ontario Rugby Football Union senior series tonight in a floodlight game which is expected to decide whether Beaches or Toronto R.C.A.F. Hurricanes will oppose Hamilton Flying Wildcats Saturday in a sudden-death contest for the union title.

Beaches now are in third place in the union standings, one point behind the second-place Hurricanes and three behind the Wildcats who are solidly entrenched in first place. If they run true to form tonight they should beat the scrappy Navy squad and get into the playoff.

Naturally enough, the Hurricanes' Dominion champions last season, are hoping against hope that the senior service squad will come through with a surprising upset, defeat Beaches and thus put them into the final. While a win for either team would clarify the playoff picture, a tie would present the O.R.F.U. executive with its biggest headache of the season, for it would leave Beaches and Hurricanes tied for the second-place playoff position.

Melbourne Cup Race Scheduled Saturday

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP)—The Melbourne Cup, Australia's most famous horse race, will be run Saturday, but without much of its hitherto large public appeal because wartime restrictions limit participation to horses available nearby.

A field of 24 is indicated, with Skipton, winner two years ago, the most fancied. Other favorites include Dark Felt and Precept, the winner of the Victoria Derby last Saturday.

Wiebe Will Rejoin Chicago Black Hawks

CHICAGO (AP)—Things looked a little rosier for Chicago Black Hawks hockey team today. President Bill Tobin said prospects were good that Art Wiebe, veteran defenceman, would join the team in about two weeks.

Wiebe has been detained by business at his home in Vermilion, Alta, but after the Hawks lost three of their first four games in the National League, Tobin urged him to report as quickly as possible.

Ottawa Hit By Army Policy

Laprades, Perras Leave

By CHARLIE EDWARDS
TORONTO (CP)—Some of the most biting criticism of service hockey during the Broda boil-up a couple of weeks ago was directed at Ottawa, which has won the Allan Cup the last two seasons. But the army's new "soldier first" policy is hitting Ottawa just as it is affecting other cities.

Jim McCaffrey of Ottawa Commandos announces (probably with tears in his eyes) that Edgar and Remi Laprade and Floyd Perras are leaving Ottawa to take their basic army training. McCaffrey says these three athletes, all army rookies, have played their last games for Commandos because army regulations insist they begin basic training immediately. The Laprades are from Port Arthur and Edgar is considered one of the nation's greatest players. Perras is a goalie of wide experience. Ordinarily the Ottawa rink management would be walking at loss of such players—but not Clare Brunton, who says his auditorium is sold out already for all 15 home games the Commandos will play there this season.

ROOKIE JOE
After Frank Boucher, at 41, took over that centre ice position for New York Rangers with five years' retirement behind him, he told Dan Daniel of the New York World-Telegram: "I was jittery as a rookie when I went out there for my first comeback game Saturday night. I went around talking to myself all day Saturday." Having scored a goal and two assists in his first two games, the Ranger coach is convinced he can continue through the season.

INCIDENTALLY
Despite his previous announcement he will play no hockey this season because of a chipped bone in his knee, Frankie Edolls may turn out with Montreal R.C.A.F. Alouettes. Edolls says his knee feels more comfortable now although an operation is inevitable sooner or later. Hee Craig of Winnipeg, one of Manitoba's

Army-Navy Soccer Clash On Tomorrow
Tomorrow afternoon at Athletic Park, starting at 2.30, the Army and Navy soccer elevens will battle in their annual Remembrance Day match for the Coach and Horae Trophy.

Army will be defending the trophy and a keen match is expected, as it will be the first meeting between the clubs this season.

Saturday's first division league games will see the R.A.F. and Navy clash at Athletic Park and the Army and R.C.A.F. meet at Work Point Barracks.

BRANDT IN NAVY
LAWRENCEBURG, Ind. (AP)—Bill Brandt, for the past two years a member of the Pittsburgh Pirates pitching staff, was accepted for navy duty Tuesday, his Wright Corner, Ind., draft board disclosed.

Brandt, a right-hander, was used mostly in relief roles by the Pirates.

BRIDGES GETS CALL
DETROIT (AP)—Tommy Bridges, long a mainstay of the Detroit Tigers pitching staff, received a call from his draft board Tuesday. Bridges, who will be 37 next month, is married and the father of an eight-year-old daughter, was reclassified 1-A on Oct. 26. He has been ordered to take his final examination Nov. 20.

R.C.A.F. Hoopsters Meet Army Tonight

Senior A men's basketball will be ushered in tonight at the High School gym with the Canadian champion R.C.A.F. Flyers battling at the Army, starting at 9. In two preliminary games, Rookies will meet the R.C.A.F. girls and the Army will tackle the V.M.D. in a men's senior B fixture.

Intermediate B and midget boys' teams will meet at the Y.M.C.A. gym. At 7, St. Louis College and K.V.'s perform, and one hour later Oak Bay meets the Combines.

In games Monday night the Red Hots defeated the Royals 44 to 21; Reds won from Yarrows 26 to 20 and the Eaglettes turned back the Comets 25 to 18 in the girls' division.

Quebec Senior Ice League Carries On

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec Senior Hockey League, meeting in emergency session here on Tuesday night, decided to carry on with a five-team loop, after they received official word of the withdrawal of the Montreal Army team.

The decision to carry on was reached after Clarence Markell, president of the Cornwall Army entry, said he hoped to keep a team in action all season, but he could give no guarantee.

Two games, already played in Ottawa and Quebec, will not be counted and a new tentative schedule calls for Quebec Aces to meet the Army team at Cornwall Friday night.

The Montreal Army team withdrew after its player strength was reduced by new army regulations applying to men of high medical categories.

More Candidates For Player Grid Trophy

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto R.C.A.F. Hurricanes and Toronto Indians have announced their nominees for the Imperial Oil Trophy, awarded annually to the player adjudged most valuable to his team in the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

Each team nominates two players from its own squad and one from a rival club.

Indians named Earl Selkirk and Jack Mason of Indians, and Joe Krol of Hamilton Flying Wildcats. Hurricanes selected L.A.C. Bob Cosgrove and Sgt. Charlie Prince as all force nominees, along with Royal Copeland of Toronto Navy.

ARMY CALLS WITEK

NEW YORK (AP)—Nicholas "Mickey" Witek, regular second baseman of the New York Giants, has been ordered to report at Luzerne, Pa., for induction into the army. Witek, who is married, has been working in a Newark, N.J., defence plant since the end of the baseball season.

Intercity Rugby Tomorrow

Victoria Repts Strong

Victoria's Crimson Tide will open defence of the McKechnie Cup, emblematic of intercity rugby supremacy, at Macdonald Park tomorrow afternoon against Vancouver Repts. Kickoff is set for 2.30. In a preliminary game Naval College B 15 will oppose Victoria College. This match will get started at 1.15.

Under the critical eye of Coach Dan Dowell the Victoria squad has been put through some strenuous pre-game training and all are reported in tip-top condition for the first engagement. Vancouver Repts will be making their second start, having dropped their first battle to Varsity.

The Victoria team, selected from the services, appears a powerful unit from the feedback out to the forwards. It should prove especially strong in the matter of kickers with Doug Peden, Army, and P.O. Anderson, R.A.F., two lads with really educated toes.

Thumbnail sketches of the Victoria players follow:
Fullback—Davies, R.A.F., formerly Carwarthen Harlequins and Swansea, Wales.

Joe Carveth Scoring Pacesetter in N.H.L.

Detroit Star Tops Snipers By One Point

MONTREAL (CP)—The high-scoring pace of Detroit Red Wings in their first three games of the National Hockey League season is reflected in league statistics released today that show two Detroit forwards leading the scoring race.

Joe Carveth is atop the heap with nine points on three goals and six assists—three points a game for the three games he has played so far this season. Right behind is Modere (Mud) Bruneteau, with eight points on seven goals and an assist.

Toronto's Theo Kennedy is third with seven points in five games, one up on a five-way tie for fourth spot.

Bruneteau's seven goals put him well up in the goal-scoring department, three ahead of a four-way tie for second spot. Carveth leads the assist column with his half-dozen while teammate Pat Egan has five.

The league hasn't produced anybody who might be called a badman as yet this season. Eight minutes in minors is the highest penalty time yet, and three players have spent that much time so far—Grant Warwick of Rangers, Lorne Carr of Toronto and Murph Chamberlain of Canadiens. Ray Gettiffe of Canadiens has a match misconduct, but only two minors in addition.

GAMES THIS WEEK

Preliminary statistics indicate Coach Dick Irvin made a shrewd move in gambling on rookie Bill Durnan to guard the nets for Canadiens this season.

After four games, Durnan leads all league goalies in the goals-against column with seven. Ironically, his nearest rival is Bert Gardiner, sent to Boston in a deal by Canadiens. He has allowed 10 goals in three games with Boston.

One of the tallest netminders in professional ranks (five feet 10 inches), Durnan is launching his first season in the major leagues, but he had a long and distinguished record in amateur company with Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior League.

His next league test comes Saturday against Detroit Red Wings in Montreal. Canadiens now share the league lead with Toronto Maple Leafs, who play Detroit in Toronto, Thursday, while the fourth-place Bruins visit the fifth-place Hawks. Wings are in third place, two points behind the co-leaders.

Notre Dame Tackles Northwestern Squad

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Northwestern's Wildcats, back in strong stride after a faltering start, will be at the peak of their power against Notre Dame football team Saturday.

The Northwestern machine functioned in low gear against Indiana and Michigan, picked up a bit of speed in rolling over Great Lakes and Ohio State, but didn't reach its maximum operating efficiency until it barged through Minnesota and Wisconsin like a thundering tank.

The two last games—in which the Wildcats ran up 83 points in contrast to the 47 they compiled in four earlier contests—demonstrate that their attack is clicking.

The fact that Notre Dame has indulged in scoring spurges since the season's first kick-off, coupled with the recent show of strength by Northwestern, indicates that a capacity crowd of 48,000 that will jam Dwyer Stadium will see a spectacular battle of offenses.

Minor Hockey

Bantam and midget members of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association will work out at the Willows Arena tomorrow morning from 7 until 9.

Starting at 9.30, a special children's skating session will be held with the arena management providing free hot dogs for its patrons.

Regular skating sessions will be held from 2 to 4, and 8.15 to 10.15.

Canadian Football Fixture Tomorrow

The second game of the six-man Canadian Football League will be played tomorrow when V.M.D. clash with St. Louis College at Central Park at 2.

The college defeated the highly-touted Cece Fletcher aggregation in their first game, after a hard fought struggle and will undoubtedly have their hands full when they meet up with Don Douglas' squad.

Preprimary School To Be Reconsidered

Victoria's school board tonight will reconsider the preprimary school scheme it left in abeyance at the beginning of the fall term.

At that time the board decided insufficient mothers qualified for enrolment of their children, but left the question open pending receipt of more applications.

At present 75 applications are on file. Not all will qualify, but there may be sufficient to justify opening of the classes at Spring Ridge School, it was learned today.

The proposed service differs materially from a nursery school. The latter enrolls tots of two and three years of age. The preprimary set-up makes provision for those four and five.

The preprimary classes, if they are established, will provide full care, including meals, rest periods and daily medical inspection, from 7.15 a.m. to 5.30 p.m.

When the plan was originally broached, eligibility was confined primarily to children whose mothers are employed outside the home, preference being given to children of men in the services whose mothers are engaged in significant war work.

At the same meeting the board will receive a framed picture of Victoria High School's graduating class, with an expression of thanks for the board's assistance in making the graduation ceremony conducted at the end of the last term a success.

Also on file is an invitation to the board to see the High School army, navy and air cadets during their training sessions at the High School, Friday evening.

Plans for the formation of a regional committee for B.C. were laid during the annual three-day convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce held at the Seignior Club, Quebec, last week, J. V. Johnson, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said on his return to Victoria.

The B.C. delegation, headed by Stanley McKee, Vancouver, and including Tom Clark, William Payne and Mr. Johnson, discussed the advisability of a regional committee at some length before the request was granted.

"It is the first real move of the Chamber of Commerce to bring about understanding between the east and west on those problems affecting the life of our Dominion," one prominent official stated.

Mr. Johnson expressed the views of the Victoria and Vancouver branches when he says that this move will not serve to divide the central organization, but will strengthen the bonds by a more thorough understanding.

"We are definitely not trying to break away," Mr. Johnson said emphatically, "but it took all of us to convince them."

Mr. Johnson feels that eastern Canada does not fully comprehend the tremendous war contribution that B.C. is making. He said also that although there is no slackening of war effort in the east, there is a definite feeling that Germany is on the verge of collapse.

"They feel optimistic about it," he said, "but are not banking on it. Everyone is working as hard, if not harder, than ever before."

About 250 delegates representing boards of trade and large business and industrial firms were represented at the convention, and Mr. Johnson expressed appreciation of the organization of Don Morrell and his staff in making all arrangements and contributing greatly to the convention's success.

Record for Potatoes

Constable J. M. Hicks of the Provincial Police has grown more than a ton of potatoes in his Victory garden at his Saanich home.

One hill of his potatoes yielded 18 pounds, five potatoes brought to the B.C. Agriculture Department for inspection weighed 15½ pounds, two potatoes weighed more than 4 pounds each.

"I have never seen finer or larger potatoes in my life," said Deputy Agriculture Minister J. B. Munro.

A car driven north on Government by J. W. Van Silght and an Oak Bay streetcar, proceeding west on Yates and turning south on Government, collided at 5.30 Tuesday afternoon. City police said the streetcar, which was slightly damaged, was operated by E. W. Marshall.

Tuesday night city police searched the downtown area for four merchant seamen who, the manager of a dance hall had said, were waiting for him. Previously the merchant seamen had been cautioned by police after the manager and the seamen had had an argument on questions of refunding tickets.

Charlie Bakhtour was remanded for judgment until next Thursday at the conclusion of hearing of a War-time Prices and Trade Board fuel order charge in city police court today. The lengthy hearing was conducted with the aid of interpreters by J. B. Clearhue, K.C., who appeared for the Crown, and H. W. Davey, representing Bakhtour.

Ten-year-old Herbert Steele, 3060 Cedar Hill Road, suffered a possible fractured left leg at 3.30 Tuesday afternoon in a collision between the bicycle he was riding and a car driven by Rev. Frederick Pike, St. Luke's Church. The accident occurred on Cedar Hill Road. The boy, removed to Royal Jubilee Hospital by city police, was attended by Dr. R. B. Robertson.

Dominion Offices, Banks To Be Open On Armistice Day

Dominion government offices and banks will be open as usual tomorrow, but provincial government offices, shipyards, industrial plants, stores and offices will be closed for Remembrance Day.

The post office and customs office will be open, with regular mail deliveries. Wartime prices and trade board office will remain open, as will income tax offices and all other offices directly under Ottawa.

Only maintenance crews and a few specialists, earning double time, will remain on duty at the shipyards.

The banks, under Dominion government charter, will remain open as usual from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The confusion results from an order-in-council passed in Ottawa last year stating that only certain days throughout the year would be deemed public holidays. Armistice Day was not one of them. In British Columbia Armistice Day is a statutory holiday. Last session the government received power from the Legislature to cancel statutory holidays, but so far has not seen fit to use that power.

The industrial relations board this year has turned down applications from industrial plants which requested permission to transfer the holiday to next Saturday or Monday, so that employees could have a long weekend. The board pointed out that not the idea of Remembrance Day, because it was intended people on that day should honor those men who gave their lives in the 1914-18 war.

Memorial Service To Civil Servants

Civil servants paid tribute today at a brief ceremony at the Parliament Buildings to those of their fellows who gave their all in the 1914-18 war, which ended 25 years ago tomorrow.

Premier John Hart placed a wreath on the bronze plaque in the rotunda, while the gathering stood in silence while the main lights were turned off and one light shone on the memorial.

Rev. Geo. Biddle offered a short prayer and a bugler sounded "The Last Post" and Reveille.

Victoria will honor its dead of two wars at the Memorial in Parliament Square tomorrow morning at 11. Veterans of the 1914-18 war will parade and uniformed men and women of this war will take part in the ceremony.

There will also be an 11 a.m. service at Esquimalt War Memorial and at 10.55 a.m. a solemn Pontifical Requiem Mass will commence in St. Andrew's Cathedral. At 12.15 p.m. veterans will gather at the Canadian Scottish memorial in Pioneer Square to honor fallen men of the famous old 16th Battalion.

Coal Shortage Taken Calmly

Victorians are taking the coal shortage calmly and no one is cold yet, coal dealers of the city said today.

There is no panic and no rush to fuel offices, which leads dealers to believe what they said some days ago—that never before was so much coal stored in private basements as is right now.

Those persons who are absolutely out of coal can be supplied with small amounts, up to half a ton, but they must take what the dealer has in stock. Gone is the day when the customer could make a choice of several types of coal.

Hospitals have enough coal for about a month, as long as the weather remains mild. The Parliament Buildings, too, have nothing to worry about for the time being, but should the coal strike continue such institutions would be cold by mid-December.

B.C. Mines Department officials estimate that since the strike started 10 days ago 50,000 tons of coal have been lost to this province. Average daily output of B.C. mines is about 5,000 tons. Vancouver Island mines produce about 2,000 tons a day, which means 20,000 tons have been lost since the strike started.

P. A. Gibbs Appointed To Construction Board
Appointment of P. A. Gibbs, chartered accountant, to the B.C. Advisory Committee to the Construction Controller, was announced today.

The committee meets weekly in Vancouver to consider applications for construction permits for work over $500 in value.

Appointment of a city man has been sought by Victoria since the date the regulations came into force requiring approval for anything but minor civilian construction. The city had contended absence of a Victorian on the board caused unnecessary delays in securing licenses to proceed with necessary work here.

Civilian Defence
Premier John Hart said today the civilian defence organization in B.C. "definitely is to be continued."

Mr. Hart said the Dominion government is becoming more enthusiastic over the work done by volunteer workers in this province. He said there would be no change in the set-up and that it would be kept up to its present standard.

Youths Describe Theft of Auto
Procedure followed in the theft of a car, for which Meltoch Essihos is now on trial, was described in Assize Court today by John Wm. Osterink and Gordon Frank Miller.

Harry Leslie Calvert, owner of the car, identified the driver and battery in court after Detective Louis Callan had given evidence on the arrest of the accused.

Osterink, who said he was working, stated he had borrowed a car and met Essihos and Miller in a downtown cafe about midnight "about six weeks ago."

The three had driven around and finally decided to "get some gas." They had approached a Chrysler parked on Cedar Road near Fernwood. One of the boys, Osterink testified, got out of the car and entered the Chrysler, signalled for a push and, when the car engine started, drove away, the other passenger joining him in the stolen car. The three had proceeded to Mt. Douglas, where the tires, battery and gas had been removed. The tires, Osterink said, had been cached in bushes at Beaver Lake and the battery brought back to town where it was installed in Essihos's car from which the previous battery was discarded. Later, Osterink said, he had loaned one of the stolen tires to another boy for the week-end.

Witness said he had been taken to the police station and with the police had picked up the other tires.

Similar testimony was given by Miller.

Evidence for the crown was completed at 12.15. P. J. Sinnott, defence counsel, called no witnesses.

RECTAL SORNESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness, and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

Canadian Killed In Raid On London

LONDON (CP)—One Canadian soldier was killed and another injured when a German bomb hit a dance hall during last Sunday's air raid on London, Canadian military headquarters announced today. Both were members of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps.

The soldier who lost his life was Cpl. John Earley, 24, of Winnipeg, where his father lives at 19 McMillan Court. Injured was Pte. Francis Richard McKane, 46, of Longueuil, Que., whose wife lives at Fulham, England.

One member of the women's division, R.C.A.F., May MacCormack of Montreal, was injured. R.C.A.F. headquarters said a thorough check of the personnel branch of the division showed that reports in London newspapers the day after the fire that three women of the R.C.A.F. had been hurt were incorrect.

This check required a couple of days in view of the number of girls away from the various stations on leave and the difficulty of getting in touch with them.

Crowder, Mo., earlier Tuesday, Pal had stopped eating.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Robert Gunn, 40-year-old Winnipeg fireman, was found dead in the bottom of his water-filled boat Tuesday night in the Netley Marsh, 35 miles north of here.

Police found the boat near his shooting lodge, but it was not immediately known whether he died of gunshot wounds or had drowned. The body was ice-covered, making an immediate post mortem impossible.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Eve Arden, who made a hit in the Broadway musical comedy, "Let's Face It," has the same role in the Paramount film version which co-stars Bob Hope and Betty Hutton and which is currently at the Capitol Theatre.

The talented Miss Arden will be seen as a mischievous, restless wife who suspects her husband of philandering and is determined to do something about it. What she does involves Bob Hope in some of his worst—and funniest—film troubles.

The film retains some of the original Cole Porter music that was written for the stage version, all top tunes.

Polyglot Cast In Atlas Spy Show

So Polyglot was the cast of "Assignment in Brittany" that M-G-M lured a special language co-ordinator to keep each accent in its proper place.

Professor S. R. Mitchell, language instructor at Columbia University, undertook the job. Signe French star Pierre Aumont plays an English agent; American-born Susan Peters portrays a French peasant; Swedish Signe Hasso enacts the role of a Nazi agent; Miles Mander, English actor, plays a French colonel; Geo. Colours, a Greek, has the part of a German captain, and Russian Adia Kuznetsov portrays a Breton. Mitchell had quite a job on his hands!

"Assignment in Brittany" comes tomorrow to the Atlas Theatre.

Grant, Fontaine Star in Thriller

Based on the noted best-seller by Francis Iles, "Before the Fact," RKO Radio's striking film, "Suspicion" co-stars Cary Grant and Joan Fontaine in what is said to be the most dramatic film of the season, and comes to the York Theatre tomorrow.

Alfred Hitchcock directed the picture, which deals with the strange romance of a near-dowry adventurer and a country heiress, and which gives the two celebrities unusual opportunities for suspense-packed action.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Nigel Bruce and Dame May Whitty head the featured RKO Radio cast of the picture, which has the English countryside as its setting.

DOMINION THEATRE

Recording one of the strangest assortments of musical instruments ever faced by a "sound mixer" was the intricate task accomplished in the filming of "Naughty Marietta," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's spectacular presentation of Victor Herbert's famous musical romance which is now at the Dominion Theatre with Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy heading an elaborate cast.

Flt. Lt. Mylrea, D.F.C. Returns On Leave

Flt. Lt. F. H. MYLREA, D.F.C., FIL-Lt. Frank H. Mylrea, D.F.C., who received his decoration for his "courage and determination in bombing targets over Berlin, Bremen, Essen and Wilhelmshaven," has returned to Canada on leave and is expected to arrive here within the next day or two to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Mylrea, 2975 Cedar Hill Road.

Mrs. Mylrea said today that she had received a telegram from her son in Ottawa and looked for his arrival home by the weekend.

Flt. Lt. Mylrea has been engaged in active flying operations since August, 1941.

A year later, Aug. 11, 1942, word came through from London that he had been given a commission and a few hours later it was announced he had been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross.

The citation said: "He is a navigator of exceptional merit and at all times has displayed the greatest keenness and the utmost determination to bomb the target. By careful planning with his captains and attention to detail before a sortie, and by his coolness and skill during the operation he has contributed materially to the successes obtained. He has taken part in attacks on such targets as Bremen, Essen, Berlin, Wilhelmshaven, Brest and other highly defended areas. His courage and determination have set an excellent example."

Flt. Lt. Mylrea was prominent in athletic circles here before he joined the air force.

He started in rugby, track and basketball at Victoria High, and was a member of the North-western Creamery Senior A men's team.

Where to Go Tonight

Jinx Falkenburg In Bright Comedy

It isn't often that a movie title so aptly fits a picture as is the case with the new Columbia comedy which opens tomorrow at the Oak Bay and Plaza theatres. The film, "She Has What It Takes," features lovely Jinx Falkenburg in the title role and from this reviewer's corner Jinx very definitely has what it takes to make film audiences everywhere happy and gay!

Definitely directed by Charles Barton with an eye toward giving movie fans the kind of light-hearted entertainment they want these days, "She Has What It Takes" has everything to take your mind off your troubles and put your head in the clouds! It has rhythm for your feet to tap to; it has romance for your heart to beat to; it has loads of fun for your sides to shake to!

Farewell Performance

Cpl. Jerry Gosley, originator and producer of the well known R.A.F. "Smile" show will make his farewell appearance to the new crazy show in the Royal Victoria Theatre, Nov. 17. Jerry Gosley has given nearly 200 performances for servicemen and charities since coming here two years ago. Tickets for this popular R.A.F. show are available at Fletcher's Music Store.

RIO THEATRE

In 20th Century-Fox's filmization of John Brophy's "Immortal Sergeant," now at the Rio Theatre, Thomas Mitchell has another rugged role similar to the one in "Stage Coach," which netted him the Academy Award.

Mitchell is featured in support of Henry Fonda and Maureen O'Hara in this first film action drama of the war in Libya.

Prominently cast also are Ailyn Joslyn, Reginald Gardiner, Melville Cooper, Bramwell Fletcher and Morton Lowry.

Oak Bay Invests $457 Per Capita

The per capita subscription to the Fifth Victory Loan for Oak Bay, excluding armed forces, civil employees and payroll investors, was $457, one of the highest averages in the Dominion.

In thanking the subscribers and Victory Loan workers of Oak Bay for the success of the campaign, Capt. Dexter pointed out that the total in this loan, $1,432,100, exceeded that invested in the Fourth Loan.

"Although we did not reach the quota set for us in the general canvass, I wish to point out that Oak Bay subscribed, up to the present date, $1,432,100, made up as follows: General canvass, $802,000; special names, $423,700 (including $75,700 conversions), and reinvestments, $206,400.

Film Beauty Joins Abbott, Costello

Elyse Knox, former cover-girl and regarded as one of the most striking cinema beauties in current films, has a leading role in Universal's "Hit the Ice," new Abbott and Costello comedy, coming Wednesday midnight show to the Plaza Theatre. Miss Knox appears opposite Patric Knowles in the gay picture which has Ginny Sims, Marc Lawrence and Johnny Long and his orchestra in its talent roster.

"Hit the Ice" was directed by Charles Lamont and produced by Alex Gottlieb.

John Carroll Plays Part of Strong Man

John Carroll went on a vitamin diet to beef the character of Hercules, the strong man, in "The Youngest Profession," coming tomorrow to the Cadet Theatre. He was able to demonstrate its effectiveness by lifting a set of weights before shooting was finished.

Saanchich Board Plan Hit By Department

The almost year-old discipline problem at Mount View High School, which the Saanchich School Board by a two-to-one vote settled to its satisfaction last Wednesday, was in the wind again today, it being understood Hon. H. G. T. Perry had disagreed with the board's proposals.

Df. J. Morris Thomas, principal of Mount View High School, and centre of the controversy over which Trustees F. Tupman and J. R. L. Burridge resigned last summer, was made supervising principal of the school by the board last week. The board thus rejected the recommendations of Judge J. O. Wilson of Ashcroft, who said Dr. Thomas was guilty of misconduct, and should be moved to another school in Saanchich or to a position elsewhere in B.C.

Martin Neilson, chairman of the board, said today Mr. Perry had disagreed with the board's action and he would call a special meeting to decide the next step in the controversy.

Time of the meeting, which will probably not be held until next week, has not been announced.

Theological College Needed in West

Need of a Presbyterian theological college in western Canada was emphasized by Dr. H. Beverly Ketchen, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, in a brief address to members of the Victoria Presbytery in St. Andrew's Church, Tuesday.

Dr. Ketchen, who left today on the afternoon boat for Vancouver, spoke of the general improvement he found throughout the whole church in budget givings and of the growing interest in the foundation fund. The moderator came to Victoria during the course of a trans-Canada tour, which took him to synods of Montreal, the Maritimes, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

He told his audience that he was favorably impressed with the calibre of the young men in the ministry. While in Victoria

Dr. Ketchen was a guest at Government House.

Begin Next Wednesday

Date of the trial was set in city court today. H. W. Davey appeared for G. H. Snow, and Gordon A. Cameron for A. P. Slade.
